Autorisation stations CB

The National Agency of Telecommunications Regulation (ANRT) is the authority responsible for the licensing of radio stations

CB Stations (Citizen Band) are radio stations meant for establishing short distance communications between radio enthusiasts, operated over forty band channels (26,960 to 27,410 MHz) with a maximum power of 4 watts.

The application may be sent by mail to autorisation@anrt.ma.

Elements of the application file must include:

- Request of the applicant (group name);
- The form (original or copy) in the ANRT template duly filled out and signed;

Copy of the group leader's passport.

Source URL: https://www.anrt.ma/en/e-services/radiocommunication/autorisation-stations-cb