

A new section has been created on the ANRT website. This is the "Open data" section, accessible from the home page. This section reflects and reinforces the spirit of transparency regarding the sharing of data produced by ANRT. It includes several observatories and lists, which are gradually being put into a usable format ("spreadsheet", etc.) in order to make them accessible to interested parties for all analyses and research concerning them. The versions not yet available in "spreadsheet" format will be available soon.
